

CLASSIFIED DOCUMENT

Document Creation Date: 2020-02-19

Originating Division: Covert Operations

Classification Level: Secret

Event Date: 2022-12-13

Mission Priority: 2

Agent Profile Dossier:

Agent Identification Code: Nightingale-13

Real Name: Alexander Petrov

Birthdate: 1975-02-14

Nationality: Russian

Occupation: Former Soviet Officer

Recruitment History:

Nightingale-13 was recruited in 2008 through the Operation Eclipse initiative, targeting retired Soviet military personnel with access to sensitive information. Initial contact was made through a dead drop in a Dresden park, where a coded message was left for pickup by a designated cutout. Following a brush pass in a Berlin café, Nightingale-13 was introduced to a senior case officer, who assessed his potential for recruitment.

Operational Assignments:

1. Operation Aurora (2010-2012): Provided SIGINT on Russian naval operations in the Baltic Sea.
2. Operation Storm (2013-2015): Handled a network of assets within the Russian Ministry of Defense.
3. Operation Frost (2016-2018): Conducted counter-intelligence operations against suspected GRU agents in Eastern Europe.

Psychological Assessments:

1. Operational Personality Inventory (OPI): Nightingale-13 scored 72/100, indicating a moderate level of risk for emotional instability.
2. Psychological Evaluation Report (PER): Conducted in 2015, the report notes Nightingale-13's difficulty in handling stress and his tendency to form close relationships with colleagues.

Performance Evaluations:

1. Case Officer Evaluation (COE): 2012, rated 85/100, praising Nightingale-13's ability to maintain secure communication channels.
2. Intelligence Assessment Report (IAR): 2018, rated 92/100, highlighting Nightingale-13's success in identifying potential GRU agents.

Personal Background:

Nightingale-13's father, a decorated Soviet officer, was killed in action during the Soviet-Afghan War. His mother, a former KGB analyst, was suspected of having ties to the KGB's First Chief Directorate. Nightingale-13's relationship with his mother has been strained since his recruitment.

Potential Vulnerabilities:

1. Family ties to KGB: Nightingale-13's mother may have inadvertently compromised his security through her past affiliations.
2. Emotional instability: Nightingale-13's difficulty in handling stress and forming close relationships may create opportunities for exploitation.
3. Loyalty to the Soviet Union: Nightingale-13's patriotic leanings could lead to his re-recruitment by the GRU or KGB.

Investigative Questions:

1. Was Nightingale-13's recruitment influenced by his family ties to the KGB?
2. Has Nightingale-13's emotional instability compromised his ability to perform his duties?
3. Is Nightingale-13 still loyal to the Soviet Union, potentially creating a risk for re-recruitment?

Solutions and Findings:

To address these vulnerabilities, the following measures should be implemented:

1. Enhanced background checks: Conduct thorough background checks on Nightingale-13's family members and associates to identify potential security risks.
2. Mental health evaluation: Schedule regular mental health evaluations to monitor Nightingale-13's emotional stability and provide support as needed.
3. Counter-recruitment measures: Implement counter-recruitment measures to prevent Nightingale-13's potential re-recruitment by the GRU or KGB.

Recommendations:

Based on the findings, it is recommended that Nightingale-13 be placed on a Temporary Security Hold until further background checks and mental health evaluations can be conducted. Regular progress reports should be submitted to assess Nightingale-13's performance and security clearance.
